

ABSTRACT

A fuel cell composed with a plural gas flow channels, a switching device, and a variable gas flow channel with the function of to switch connection between one gas flow channel and another one from series to parallel or from parallel to series.